What is Media Corps

Media Corps delegates tell the stories of the assembly through a variety of media, including written articles, social media reporting, video broadcasting, and creating the end of conference slide show.

Being a member of the Media Corps offers hands-on practice crafting compelling stories on important policy topics. Media Corps members regularly publish their stories outside of the conference in local or school newspapers, blog sites and video platforms. You can follow Media Corps on our social media listed below. Don't forget to like, subscribe, and share!
